

CHARITY event for Earth Day '09

Helping a local charity is important to us at 1-800-GOT-JUNK? and as a celebration of Earth Day 2009 we want to help you, help our community.

Over the next month, we'll be collecting all the good quality items like housewares or toys our customers get rid of. These reusable items will either be resold or donated to charity. All of the proceeds raised from selling the items will go to an organization in need.

All you need to do is participate in our event. Donate toys or come by our yard sale, check out our wares and buy something you love for charity. Just remember one person's trash is another person's treasure!

Join us in April. See details below.
